

Table of contents

Foreword	7
I. Trans and non-binary inclusion in the legal workspace	9
Emma Cusdin
Rachel Reese
Global Butterflies
1. Introduction	9
2. Why does trans and non-binary inclusion matter?	10
3. The trouble with labels	11
4. What's up with UK law?	17
5. Trans and non-binary inclusion around the world	21
6. First steps towards trans and non-binary inclusion	21
7. Recruitment and employment	22
8. A company's 'trans brand'	24
9. Transition (or change of gender expression)	25
in the workplace
10. Those troublesome toilets	28
11. Why allies matter	28
12. Questions you should never ask a trans or	29
non-binary person (but which people frequently do)
13. Trans and non-binary inclusion under lockdown	30
14. Help and support	33
15. And finally	33

- II. Social mobility in law – where’s the equity and justice? 35
 - Muhammad Gangat
Social Mobility Business Partnership
Hogan Lovells
 - 1. Social mobility in the United Kingdom – a crisis? 35
 - 2. Social mobility and law – an inspired relationship? 36
 - 3. The current state of affairs – a desperate need 39 to level up
 - 4. What more can be done? 40
 - 5. Conclusion 47

- III. “Hidden and in the profession”: disability 49
 - in the workplace
 - Jodiann Gayle
Legalnable
 - 1. Introduction 49
 - 2. Definition of ‘disability’ 49
 - 3. Disclosing your disability 51
 - 4. Recommendations 57

- IV. Race and ethnicity – everyone has a story 63
 - Gian Power
TLC Lions
 - 1. My story 63
 - 2. Rebuilding myself 65
 - 3. Cultural differences in the workplace 66
 - 4. Creating inclusive and empathetic workplaces 67
 - 5. Cultural transformation through storytelling 69

- V. Women in the law 71
 - Catherine McGregor
Catherine McGregor Research
 - 1. Introduction 71
 - 2. Changing demographics 72
 - 3. Strategic imperatives 72
 - 4. How we work 75
 - 5. Breaking the glass ceiling 81
 - 6. Intersectionality 87
 - 7. #MeToo and Time’s Up 90
 - 8. The power of the client 92
 - 9. Conclusion 94

VI. Belief	97
Peter Mansfield
Reynolds Porter Chamberlain LLP
1. Belief	97
2. Belief and business	99
3. Belief and origins	102
4. Belief and identity	106
5. Belief and community	107
6. Belief and praxis	110
7. Belief and the law	111
8. Belief and conflict	113
9. Belief and secularism	114
10. Belief and policies	115
11. Afterword	117
VII. “Age is but a number”: ensuring that multi-generational working adds up for the legal industry	119
Dana Denis-Smith
Laura Vosper
Obelisk Support
1. Introduction	119
2. Starting out – challenges for young talent	120
3. Future thinking for future lawyers	121
4. The juggle is real – managing family and work life	124
5. Practical solutions to practical problems	125
6. Over and out – why does the legal industry write off older talent?	127
7. Rethinking work for older professionals	129
8. Is there a role for the profession in attacking ageism more widely?	130
9. Conclusions	130
VIII. At a crossroads with intersectionality	133
Rachel Pears
Reynolds Porter Chamberlain LLP
1. Introduction	133
2. A potted (and by no means complete) history	134
3. Legally speaking: the rise and fall of Section 14	139
4. The common siloed approach – should this still be the direction of D&I travel?	142
5. How we can individually and collectively take a more ‘intersectional’ approach	145

- IX. Mental health and wellbeing in the legal community 149
 - Elizabeth Rimmer
 - LawCare
 - 1. What do we mean by ‘mental health’? 149
 - 2. A perfect storm 151
 - 3. Healthy justice needs healthy lawyers 153
 - 4. About LawCare – our vision 154
 - 5. Fit for Law 156
 - 6. The post-pandemic legal environment 157
 - 7. Building a better culture in legal workplaces 158
 - 8. Reframe the narrative 160
- About the authors 162
- About Globe Law and Business 168
- About The Centre for Legal Leadership 169