

Table of contents

Foreword	7
Peter Zeughauser Zeughauser Group
Acknowledgements	11
I. Understanding the flywheel effect	13
1. Introduction	13
2. Some firms are pulling away from the rest in size and momentum	14
3. Compounded growth is a crucial factor	16
4. Within a peer group, larger and more profitable firms have important advantages	17
5. The prospect of a merger can force a firm to address problems	17
6. The risk of doing nothing also has to be weighed	18
Management perspectives	22

II. Designing a strategy around strengths	29
1. Formulate a strategy that extends existing strengths	29
2. Take a hard look at your firm	30
3. Identify opportunities to exploit	31
4. Look for firms that share your strengths and aspirations	32
5. View the issue through strategy	34
6. It pays to be patient	36
Management perspectives	37
III. The special perspective of the smaller firm	41
1. Staying small has drawbacks, however	41
2. The cost of doing nothing is not nothing	43
3. There are tangible advantages to scale	43
4. How to begin evaluating the option	45
5. What to do if you want to go forward	46
IV. Missing the window, or not	47
1. Perform an honest self-evaluation	47
2. Signs the window could be closing	49
3. Standing still carries risks	50
4. Addressing weaknesses	50
Management perspectives	51
V. Taking the driver's seat	53
1. Being reactive carries risks	54
2. Agree on criteria and frame the discussion around those	54
3. Consensus on the criteria lays the groundwork for a deal later	56

VI. Drawing up the list	57
1. Framing the initial criteria	58
2. Conducting the first screen	60
3. Profiling the most appealing candidates in depth	61
4. Prioritising your targets based on your criteria and feasibility	62
VII. The approach	65
1. Do your homework and gauge your audience	66
2. Dealing with the sceptics	70
3. Keeping quiet and preparing for leaks	73
Management perspectives	74
VIII. The second meeting and beyond	75
1. What to ask for	75
2. Start fleshing out the upside	78
3. Develop a process and a timeline	78
4. Identify make-or-break issues and work through them	79
5. Voice concerns and state priorities, not demands	81
6. Start planning how to communicate with clients	82
7. Be flexible about the legal structure	82
8. Think creatively	82
9. Avoid flipping a switch that will leave someone in the dark	84
Management perspectives	85
IX. Getting partners' approval	89
1. How to structure a vote	91
2. How to deal with vocal opposition	91
Management perspectives	93

X. Making the deal a success	95
1. Frame a shared strategy	96
2. Build momentum	96
3. Develop and track but-for revenue	96
4. Foster and measure cross-firm collaboration	97
5. Compensate partners for fulfilling the merger goals	97
6. Leaders set the tone	97
Management perspectives	98
Notes	101
About the authors	102
About Globe Law and Business	104